It has been extensively introduced throughout the State of California, and receives the universal commendation of all who have used it.
The Machine is now in the city of Portland, where it can be seen at Mr. O. Kilbourn's Store, corner of Front and Taylor Sts., East side, Portland, and is prepared to furnish the Machine to purchasers, and also to sell and dispose of County Rights for the sale of the same.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JUNE 8.

Domestic Tragedy.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Col Cole, brother of Senator Cole, of California, murdered one Hiscock. Hiscock was chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House during the last session of the Legislature. Cole was arrested and he made a statement to the effect that he noticed the army as a private, and rose during his five years service, to a Major Generalship. He supposed Hiscock to be the best friend he had in the world. When he went South in 1864 his wife was sick, and was, at one time expected to die. He desired Hiscock, who is a relative, to look after her. Afterwards, he made insulting propositions to her, and being refused, made a forcible attempt. He professed penitence, and she concealed his conduct from her husband. She became dejected under a sense of her shame. A week ago Hiscock met me and asked me when I was going away again. His guilty manner aroused my suspicions, and I learned all the facts from my wife's lips. He, Cole, intended to take her to her sister in Brooklyn and then return and force Hiscock at pistol's mouth to confess, beg forgiveness or leave the country. He arrived at Albany en route, and thinking he had better leave it off his mind, went to the hotel and at the sight of his wife destroyed and his children disgraced, he became maddened. At the coroner's inquest Cole stated that when Hiscock was within twelve feet of him he drew a pistol from his pocket and deliberately leveled it at his head, almost touching his face he fired and Hiscock fell without an exclamation. Cole said on the way to the station house that Hiscock had dishonored his simple and innocent wife. He was much affected and kept repeating that fact, apparently much frenzied.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The Tribune's commentary on Cole's killing Hiscock says he will escape the halter on the principle that Sickles and Mary Harris were acquitted. The Times says it was deliberate and intentional murder. E. J. Church declined to act as counsel for Cole.

Hail Storm in Missouri—Accidents.

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—A severe hail storm has occurred in the interior of the State, doing immense damage to crops and fences. Hail stones fell as large as hen's eggs.

There was a death by sun-stroke in Chicago yesterday. Several deaths by lightning are reported in the surrounding country.

Operations on the Plains.

CHICAGO, June 8.—An Omaha special says: Sherman has withdrawn his troops to the South side of Platte, between forts Sedgwick and McPherson. The stages have been withdrawn from that portion. Sherman will probably abandon the expedition to the heart of the Indian country and concentrate his troops to protect the stages and railroad, deeming that more important.

Johnson again Swings around the Circle.

RALEIGH, June 7.—The Presidential party attended the commencement exercise at the Chapel Hill University today and returned on the way to Washington.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 12, 1867.

Democratic Strategy

The Democrats of Portland, encouraged by the offer of help from a few renegade Unionists and recreant Republicans who have been repudiated by the party to which they falsely professed to belong, have determined to bring out a full ticket for the coming election Some are said to favor the nomination of a straight party ticket, while others desire to make up a sort of mongrel affair on which the new Democratic converts shall have a prominent place. This course will probably be adopted, and a ticket presented made up mostly of Democrats of approved orthodoxy, with one or two pretended Union men to give a no-party appearance to the affair. This ticket will be called a "people's" or "citizens'" ticket, and, as is generally the case with a minority party, its authors will profess to ignore party politics entirely. A strenuous effort will be made to elect it as a "people's ticket" in contradistinction to the ticket put forth by a political organization. In case this anti-political ticket succeeds, the result will be trumpeted forth as a grand Democratic triumph. Who are the persons favoring this scheme? Who are they who are taking the most active part in it? The answer to these inquiries will settle the political status of the ticket which will be presented. Those who are mainly concerned in the movement are the most active members of the Democratic party. The movement is Democratic in every feature. It is being organized by Democrats. It will be engineered by Democrats. It will be supported by Democrats. It is expected to conduce to the advantage of the Democratic party. This accounts for the interest the Democratic party takes in it. It is intended as an entering wedge to divede the Republican-Union party and if possible prepare the way for a more substantial Copperhead victory. In its inception and its object, the the movement is Democratic all over. It pretends to ignore party politics, but it is thoroughly partisan in every characteristic. It is nothing but partisan. It is inspired solely by partisanship To build up the Democratic party is its first, last and only object. The Democrats of Portland are now crawling simply because the cannot stand alone. By next year they hope to gain strength enough to stand.

Union men cannot therefore be deceived by this movement It is simply the appearance of the Copperhead party in another shape, and the disguise is not half so good as that of the ass when he put on the lion's skin. In whatever shape that party appears, it should be met and defeated. We have dealt with it in this way ever since 1861, and it is never time to leave off doing good. No true Union man would associate with that party during the rebellion, is it a better party now than it was then? The Unionists of Portland may as well make up their minds to one thing. Party will govern in this city the same as it governs in the State and nation, and if one party does not control, the other will. The Union warty will govern or the Democratic party will rule. And if there are any who disbelieve this, they will find their mistake the moment the Democratic party gets the reins in its hands.

Hoist with his Own Petard.

An ambitious man is Hon. Miles of Lewis county, Washington Territory, late Speaker of the Territorial Assembly. Skilled in political craft and cunning, and profoundly versed in all the tortuous and intricate ways of county politics (his county polls about 150 votes) is the said Miles, Democrat, late Speaker, etc., etc. Of his wonderful skill in that sort of manipulation which makes the cross-roads and country tavern politician a great man and a man to be looked on with admiration and wonder, Hon Miles lately gave his neighbors and the rest of mankind a convincing illustration. Miles the acute, Miles the redoubtable, as the leader of his party in the powerful county where he resides, in the natural order of things became again a candidate for the Legislative Assembly Visions of the Speaker's chair and the honors and ceremonies attending a second triumphant installation rose before him. But Hon Miles was not sure of being elected. He found out that his county, though sparsely settled and a most proper place for Confederate Democrats to live in, contained a considerable sprinkling of Abolitionists—quite too many, in fact, to allow him to rest comfortably in the assurance that he would have a majority of the votes of the sovereigns here residing. Hon. Miles, late Speaker, [illegible] but upon a happy plan to make his seat certain One precinct was strongly Republican, its vote must be invalidated. Democratic judges of election were therefore appointed in this precinct, and instructions were given them not to be sworn as the law requires, so that when the vote should be canvassed this precinct might be thrown out. The plan promised to work like a charm The Democratic voters of this precinct to the number of fifteen deposited their ballots, and a few of the Republicans did likewise But the great body of the Republican voters, not liking the appearance of things, quietly withdrew, went to another precinct and put in their votes The upshot of Hon. Speaker Miles' game was his defeat by six votes; whereas, if he had not tried this little piece of cunning strategy he would have been elected by a like majority. Miles, it is said, will hereafter forswear politics. The trade is a corrupt one. And demoralising. And full of uncertainty. But the heartless Radicals of Lewis county and of all Washington Territory are enjoying politics immensely, and the result of Hon. Miles' experiment in particular For them it is sport to see a Speaker expectant hoist with his own petard.

W. H. Newell of the Walla Walla Statesman has been elected a member of the Territorial Council for Walla Walla county. As soon as he was assured of his election he published a column article in his paper lecturing his readers about the evils of office seeking. Newell ought to know how demoralising such practises are, and he does well to warn everybody against imitating his example. Pointing to himself he could with much propriety utter the adjuration Behold the office-seeker. Remember Lot's wife.

Dalles and Umatilla Road.

The Columbia Press publishes the following

As stated last week, a party of gentlemen explored the country between Umatilla and John Day River, and succeeded in laying out a road on an air line from Umatilla to the bluffs overlooking the said river. It crosses Willow Creek about two and a half miles from its confluence with the Columbia, touching the Columbia twice before reaching Willow Creek. From thence it takes nearly a westerly direction over a level prairie, free from sand and stones. By this route, stages can make Dalles City in about fifteen hours. Water is found at convenient distances, and between Willow Creek and Umatilla, teamsters and travelers can camp on the Columbia at any point they may desire. The distance to the Dalles is thus reduced to eighty miles, over which Ward's stages will run in less time than boats on the Columbia, just as comfortable, and at half the expense Hereafter the land travel to the Boise country from the Dalles will pass through Umatilla instead of going over a long succession of hills by way of the Twelve mile house and Wells' Springs, the distance being ten miles less by way of Umatilla, and over a levelor and less sandy road. The road will be extended to Walla Walla, reducing the distance to forty-five miles from Umatilla, making the entire distance from Walla Walla to the Dalles but one hundred and twenty-five miles, just a days travel by stage. This naturally throws the main travel to the Boise country on the Rockel's road, via Warm Springs. This improvement has been long needed, and we are satisfied that every pains will be taken to keep the road in perfect repair, and the stations fit places for the accommodation of man and beast

STATE ITEMS.

The annual meeting of the Congregational Association of Oregon will be held at Oregon City commencing on Thursday, June 20th at 9 o'clock A M

The Unionist says that the receipts of wheat at the Salem mills for the week just averaged 700 bushels per day The Salem mills have contracted for the delivery of about 7,000 bushels more

The Salem Record says: 'Cooper's coal mine is opening to good advantage, and at the depth of 65 feet shows an improved quality of coal from that before produced. He has 100 tons of coal out 25 of which he says is of the very best quality

The Umatilla paper of the 8th inst says The Columbia rose rapidly during Tuesday and Wednesday completely encircling the Orleans Hotel and necessitating the removal of Mr Davis from his house on Front street The nature of the shore opposite town is such that no harm can be done, so we sit in our office and look complacently at the dashing waves Yesterday a reaction took place, and we have probably seen the highest water of this season.

During the month of May the following appointments were made by Gov Woods Michael Phillips, commissioner of deeds for the State of Oregon, residence, New York City Edward Cahlwalder, commissioner of deeds, residence, Sacramento City, Cal Bingar Herman, notary public residence, Roseburg, Douglas county, Oregon Matthew Davenport, notary public, Umatilla county. D M C Gault, notary public, Jacksonville Oregon M M McCarver, notary public, Multnomah county.

An Indian, says the Columbia Press, has announced his willingness to show the "Boston man" where gold can be found in abundance in the Blue Mountains, about one hundred and fifty miles from Umatilla We when so much on Indian prospecting but should be willing to try it on A party, we understand, will test the truth of the red man's statement His reports are fabulous, and the rock which he produced is said by those who have seen it, to be very rich Where he obtained it is not so certain We shall learn more of this soon

A limestone quarry, says the Record, has been discovered by Frank Cooper, at the mouth of Beaver creek, or Butte creek, in Clackamas county, about 18 miles from the Willamette river. Such a discovery is of great importance, as the existence of limestone in large quantities has not been before established. The lime for the University was in part made from limestone found in that vicinity, but Frank thinks he has found the main deposit We hope he has and that it will do him some good His enterprise and energy in prospecting the mountains deserves success sometime or other.

The Unionist of Monday says Two men, calling their names Green and Logsdon, and stating that they reside in Benton county, called upon us last Saturday and stated that, on the day previous, about one hundred yards south of the Molalla bridge on the stage road, a man with his face masked stepped from behind a tree by the road side, and presenting a gun at the foremost man commanded him to stop Both men laid whip to their horses and dashed on while the would be robber kept his gun presented. From the manner in which the men told their story, we are inclined to believe what they said, and from suspicious circumstances connected with their statements, we deem it at least safe to warn the public to be on their guard while in the vicinity where this outrage is said to have been attempted If the suspicions of the men who related the above are correct, the good citizens in the neighborhood mentioned would do well to keep a sharp lookout for a black sheep

FROM WALLA WALLA.

From the Statesman of the 7th inst., we have the following.

HORSE STEALING.

We learn that D. M. Jesse had a valuable horse stolen a few nights since No traces have been obtained of the robber. We also learn that several horses have been stolen on the Touchet within the last fortnight The frequency of these depredations would seem to indicate that there is a regular band of horse thieves to the valley. Should any of the thieves be caught, it is more than likely that they will be treated to a "choker."

FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Thursday last, a boy aged about eight years, son of T G. Lee, County Commissioner, was thrown from a horse, and sustained injuries from which he subsequently died. In company with his father and an older brother, he had been to town, and was on his way home, when the horse on which the two boys were riding, shied and threw them both off In falling, the elder boy escaped injury, but the other one, less fortunate, broke his arm. Medical aid was at once called in, but the shock to the little fellow's system was too great, and death finally came to his relief. He was a boy of great promise, and was a universal favorite with all who knew him. His afflicted parents have the sympathy of the whole community in their great bereavement

SHIPMENT OF FLOUR.

Mr. Chas. Russell, of the "Pioneer Mill," informs us that within the last week he has shipped one thousand barrels of flour to San Francisco The shipments from other sources, for the same period, foot up two thousand barrels, making a total of three thousand barrels. We understand that at the present rate of freights, flour can be shipped to San Francisco, and will not owners in this Valley $4 25 per barrel.

VOTE OF PACIFIC COUNTY.—The following is the official return of the vote in Pacific county, Washington Territory, as received late last (Tuesday) evening: Flanders, 122; Clark, 16. Pacific county is evidently a bad place for Democrats.

SHATTERED CONSTITUTIONS RESTORED by Helm- bold's Extract Buchu.

Consumption like the Rattle Snake, al- ways gives warning of its approach. A lacking cough, dull pain in the chest, difficulty of breathing, are the in- dications that there is more or less irritation of the lungs. If this be neglected, and no unguent pustules are formed, followed by tubercles, which sometimes eat off the blood vessels, death will be the result. Allen's Lung Balsam will heal the irritated parts, allay the inflam- mation, removing the phlegm and matter, thus stopping the cough, and preventing fatal consumption. For sale by all Medicine Dealers. dtc

Post Meridian

The croakers are not gone extinct—
They bore us as of old,
And magnify the ills of life
At least a hundred fold
But near the fated artist Time
Has flecked our locks with gray,
They'd have us as incubrious
And woe-begone as they

But no—the gentle hand of Time
Falls with as light a touch,
He seems like some benignant friend
Who loves us overmuch
We grow to love him more and more,
And as the years go by,
The thought of parting pains the heart
That seldom else would sigh.

He leads us by still waters now,
And now by pastures green,
Until the mellow, westering light
In beauty bathes the scene
The slope along the sunset side
No gloomy shadow throws,
And eventide has rosier clouds
Than morning ever knows.

Life is a sort of eager race
For wealth, or power, or fame,
Where he who gains the golden prize
The other two may claim
The winning post is just in sight—
Spur on the willing mind!
One backward look—oh, there they are,
The boys are close behind!

So let us cherish cheery thoughts,
And with an unbated hope
Give all the powers that manhood brings
Their very broadest scope.
As for myself, I frankly own,
I like Dame Nature's plan,
Who passed me through her infant school,
And turned me out a man!

Conundrums.

A late number of the Galaxy contains an exhaustive article on the subject of conundrums. It might be called a "digest of the art. The following will show it to be a very simple art:

We will use the dictionary once more. Turn to s and discover which words there are which will furnish a pun by omitting the s: for instance, school, take off s and you have cool. Now proceed thus: Why is a man who does not lose his temper like a schoolmaster? Because he (keeps school). When does a man entertain his horse and guest alike? When they are both fed at his table (his stable). Why is a man who goes up town after beer like the goods in an auctioneer's store? Because he is up for's ale (for sale). Why is spermaceti like a busybody? Because it makes scandals. There are others made on the same principle, but for which the dictionary affords but little help, as when we say that an old dog is like an inclined plane, because he's a slow pup (slope up); or that hens cannot see immortality, because they get their necks twirled (next world) in this. One of the worst of this kind was Dr. Holmes': Why is an onion like a piano? Because it smell odious. A pun can also be made sometimes, by drawing or lengthening out the pronunciation of a word, as when we say that the kind of monkeys that grow on grape vines are gra-apes.

A style of conundrum has become very frequent and popular which is founded on a transposition of letters or words, giving a new and surprising sense. I have opened one package of this class. The first one is as follows: What is the difference between stabbing a man and killing a swine? One is assault with intent to kill, the other is killing with intent to salt. So it is discovered of a cat and a document that one has claws at one end of its paws, and the other has pauses at the end of its clause; of a wife and an editor, that one sets articles to rights, and the other writes articles to set; of the eagle and a certain kind of dog, that one is a tarrier in the sky and the other is a Sky terrier; of the permission to speak and the command not to speak, that in one case you are allowed to talk and in the other you are not to talk aloud; of a pound of meat and a drummer boy, that one weighs a pound and the other pounds away; of an utterer of spurious coin and a false heir, that one issues a counterfeit and the other counterfeits an issue; of a church organist and the influenza, that one knows the stops and the other stops the nose; of a successful lover and his rival, that one kisses his miss and the other misses his kiss; of an unsuccessful swain and a father of a family, that one is a sighing lover and the other a loving sire; on a mischievous mouse and a beautiful young lady, that one harms the cheese and the other charms the he's; of seventeen and seventy, that one is careless and happy and the other hairless and cappy; of the effect of catching cold and one of the isles of Greece, that in one case it is you cough and in the other Corfu; of an emperor and a beggar, that one issues manifestoes and the other manifests toes without his shoes; of a cook boiling boots and a man flogging him, that one cooks the boots and the other beats the cook; of a tailor and a siege gun, that one works the breeches and the other breeches the work; of the Prince of Wales and a bombshell, that one is heir to the throne and the other thrown to the air; of "Old Uncle Ned" and Louis Napoleon in the event of another French revolution, that one had no hair on the top of his crown, the place where the hair ought to grow, and the other would have no crown on the top of his heir, the place where the crown ought to go. It is also mentioned that the difference between a baby and a great coat is, that the one you was and that the other you wear; that perseverance is a strong will, and obstinacy a strong won't; that Noah's ark was a high ark, but that an archbishop is a high-church; of a gauze dress and a drawn tooth, that one is too thin and the other is teeth out; that the Prince of Wales is an heir apparent, an orphan has no'er a parent, a bald head has no'er a hair apparent, and a gorilla has a hairy parent.

As a relief from the ingenuity of the specimens which I have given, it is well to introduce occasionally a question which ought to be obvious to every one, but is not. For instance, what makes more noise than a pig under a gate? two pigs; why does a traveler who has been on a long journey, and comes to a board fence in the midst of a forest, try to get over it? because he wants to get over; what is the best thing to do in a hurry? nothing; why does a miller wear a white hat? to keep his head warm; Lord Dundreary gives one of this kind, which, though obvious, is notwithstanding exceeding logical:

"Why doeth a dog waggle hith tail? Give it up? I think moth foliath will give that up! You thee the dog waggeth hith tail becauth the dog'th sthwonger than the tail. If he wathn't, the tail would waggle the dog."

It is so easy to make conundrums that most intelligent men will prefer to put their faculties to some harder task. A dancer once said to a Spartan, "I can stand on one leg longer than you." "Perhaps so," said the Spartan, "and so can my goose." A few conundrums are very well after dinner with raisons and nuts, and I have no doubt my friend, the editor, will be willing to furnish them at reasonable rates in lots to suit purchasers.

BEAUTIES OF CHIVALRY.—The sharpness of the Yankees is a never failing theme with the Southern press and people, but the following story, vouched for by a correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer, shows that tricks as smart any Yankee could accomplish can be wrought by Virginians:

Two white brothers made, separately, agreements with a considerable number of freedmen, in reference to the cutting of staves. One brother owned the land, and agreed to pay for the labor. The other boarded the laborers at a stipulated rate until the work should be done. When it was all done, the brother who made the stave contract paid not a cent for the same, but his fraternal partner brought suit against the negroes for their board, recovered judgment, and sold the crops they had raised by a season's work on land rented wholly apart from the controversy.

There is a practice in Princess Ann county called "hunting" land. This is an agreement between the land owner and freedmen, by which the latter undertake to clear a certain number of acres by their own labor at their own expense, in consideration of which they are to occupy and farm the clearing for themselves for shro on four years. As the land owner refuses to give away any paper or other evidence of the agreement, it has frequently happened that the freedmen, as soon as they have completed their part of the bargain and cleared the tract, squatters, and driven off.

The scotch will not deal with the immigrant Yankee if he can avoid it, but will borrow from him, steal from him, and make him contribute three or four times his proportion to road and other county expenditures. The other day a northern settler contracted to cut a large amount of wood in a forest, the outlet of which was by a wood road long used, and while for a few hundred yards ran over the unused ground of a third party. The latter straightway charged the northern gentleman seventy-five cents per cord for the privilege of hauling it over his sacred soil, which was more than the profit on the contract. The same man at the same time allowed the road to be used free by his chivalric fellows

MEXICO.—The population of Mexico is about eight million. Ex-Governor Harris, of Tennessee, who has been there and knows something of the quarrelsome nature of the people, thinks that if about seven millions of them were exterminated, the balance might be able to live peaceful. Harris and his fellow ex-rebels, having sided with the losing party, had a rough time of it, and found it advisable to leave the country. It is natural that they should have a poor opinion of Mexico and the Mexicans.

Woll Put.

The Humboldt (Nev.) Register is a Democratic paper, and like many of its kind it is greatly exercised about the negro question. The Eastern Slope is a Republican Union paper, and its editor is a man who for thirty or forty years did service in the Democratic ranks. The Register, in a recent fit of excitement, demanded to know the position of the Slope on the suffrage question, and the required information was very cheerfully given. It is put in a most convincing style,—for, as all know, the acts of the Democratic party in the direction of political equality are not by any means imaginary. Let the experienced editor of the Eastern Slope speak on the subject

Now, Bonnifield, we want you to know that we have been a member of the Democratic party since the first day of its organization, and until its demise, endorsed and advocated all Democratic issues hurrahed and voted for all Democratic candidates. We were a member of the party when a Democratic majority in the State of New York conferred the rights of the elective franchise on "niggers." We were a member of the party when Democratic majorities gave the ballot to the "nigger" in Maine, in Massachusetts, in New Hampshire, and as a good Democrat we sustained the party in those acts, voted for its candidates, shouted its praises, and took issue with every man who took issue with its policy. We voted with the Democratic party for Martin Van Buren for President of these United States, knowing that he presided over the Convention that made "niggers" voters. We were a member of the party that elected Richard M. Johnson to the Vice Presidency of the United States, knowing that he had a "nigger" wife and mulatto children, knowing too, that by the death of Martin Van Buren that same "nigger wench" might be called upon to preside as Mistress of the White House—though Presidents were not so apt to die during their term of office in those days as in late years. In addition to all of this, as a member of the Democratic party we have been called upon to endorse the election of George E Pugh to the United States Senate, who voted to repeal all laws in Ohio making a distinction on account of color. To support Rufus B. Ramsey for Governor of Ohio, knowing that he favored by his vote the education of white and "nigger" children in the same schools. To support and elect Reuben Wood to the Governorship of Ohio, knowing that he, on the supreme bench of that State, decided that mulattoes had the right to vote. All these and many other things have we sanctioned at the behest of that party, and now in our old age we can't throw off on that old party, nor do violence to that sentiment of the father of Democracy, which reads (take off your hat, Bonnifield,) "All men are created free and equal." Bonnifield! what's bred in the bones stays long in the flesh—we are Democrats yet. It would have afforded us great pleasure to have had leisure to write to you more at length; to have referred to that glorious time when our party, through John C. Calhoun, gave utterance to the noble sentiment, "Universal suffrage and universal education." There are thousands of such reminiscences, very refreshing to us Democrats; that it would delight us, you and me, to call to memory in those degenerate times in which the Democracy have departed from the strict paths of political rectitude—scoffed at the teachings of the fathers, and gone harloting with the madons of our ancient foes.

CURIOUS STORY ABOUT A PETRIFIED BODY.—The Chicago Journal of a recent date says:

A letter from Vicksburg gives an interesting account of the National Cemetery located two miles above that city, on a beautiful height overlooking the majestic Mississippi—land in which is to be deposited the remains of from 30,000 to 40,000 Union soldiers, all belonging to the Western States. It comprises 40 acres, purchased by the Government for that purpose. The remains of all that have been buried between Helena, Arkansas, and Grand Gulf, Mississippi, on the Mississippi river, together with those of Champion Hill, and in Yazoo district, are to be removed to this cemetery. Those between Grand Gulf and the mouth of the Red river are to be removed to cemeteries at Natchez. Both of these cemeteries are in charge of Captain J. W. Southy, Assistant Quartermaster of the United States Army.

The very tasteful manner in which Capt. Southy is having the cemetery laid out, and the work prosecuted, reflects credit alike upon himself and Government. He has in his employ 250 Irish and 150 freedmen, in the District of Mississippi. The exhumation of dead soldiers is let out to contractors, but the work is superintended by Capt. Southy in person, the clerks and agents being employed by the Government at a monthly salary, thus having no chance for speculation on the bones of our heroic dead. It is estimated that the cost to the Government of exhuming and re-interring will not exceed $2 per body, exclusive of the coffins. They were made by contract and delivered at 90 cents each. Capt. Southy has procured authority from the Secretary of War to use some seven large Columbiad guns that had been captured from the rebels to decorate the cemetery, one has been placed in lieu of the marble monument, that has been picked and chipped to pieces, to mark the site of the interview between Gens. Grant and Pemberton. The old marble one now stands at the railroad depot. A more imposing site could not have been procured, as it is opposite the point on the peninsula; commanding a splendid river view, either ascending or descending.

For the accommodation of the thousands who will desire to visit this last resting place of deceased friends, the citizens, with what aid the Government may give, contemplate bridging the stream between the city and the cemetery, thereby making it accessible at all times. Already several thousand bodies have been interred. One petrified body has been exhumed under a sand-bar that has been a long time under water. No mark or name could be found, but it was the body of a Captain. Not only were the face, hair, whiskers, etc., perfectly natural, but every part of the uniform, although one mass of stone, was perfect. So great was its weight that it came near sinking the skiff in taking it ashore. It had been a very large, fine looking man.

MUNCHAUSENISMS.—Some ancient books of travel in China have lately been republished in London. They contain very curious narratives. Friar Oderic, who spent three years (from 1320 to 1331) in Northern China, says the Kahn's palace in Pekin was of vast size and splendor, supported by twenty-four columns of gold, and that its walls were hung with red leather, said to be the finest in the world. In the middle of the palace there was a great jar, more than two paces in hight, entirely formed of a precious stone called mordacas, and so fine that its price, he was told, exceeded the value of four towns. It was hooped around with gold, and fringed with net work of pearls. Conduits from the palace filled it with drink, and beside it were many golden goblets for the use of those who thirsted. "When the great lord," he continues, "wishes to make an entertainment, he has fourteen thousand barons, with garments on their heads, waiting upon him at the banquet, and every one has a cont on his back such that the pearls on it alone are worth some fifteen thousand florins. In short, the court is truly magnificent, and the most perfectly ordered that there is in the world, with barons, gentlemen, servants, secretaries, Christians, Turks, and idolators, all receiving from the court what they need. In the Khan's menagerie were horses with six legs, doubleheaded ostriches, giants twenty feet high, and "women all hairy with long grey hair." Ibn Batuta, who visited the Celestial Empire twenty years later, describes a Chinese magician as follows: "He took a woolen ball with several holes in it, through which long thongs were passed, and laying hold of one of these, slung it into the air. It went so high that we lost sight of it altogether. There now remained only a little of the end of a thong in the conjurer's hand, and he desired one of the boys who assisted him to lay hold of it and mount. He did so, climbing by the thong, and we lost sight of him also. The conjurer then called to him three times, but getting no answer, he snatched up a knife, as if in a great rage, laid hold of the thong, and disappeared also. By and by he threw down one of the boys' hands, then a foot, then the other hand and the other foot, then the trunk and last of all the head. Then he came down himself, puffing and panting, and with his clothes all bloody, but presently he took the lad's limbs laid them together in their places, and gave them a kick, when, presto, there was the boy, who got up and stood before him. All this astonished me beyond measure, and I had an attack of palpitation like that which overcame me once before, in the presence of the Sultan of India, when he showed me something of the same kind."

THE SHEEP KNOW HIS VOICE.—Not long since a man in India was accused of stealing sheep. He was brought before the judge and the supposed owner of the sheep was also present. Both claimed the sheep and had witnesses to prove their claims, so it was not easy for the judge to decide to which it belonged. Knowing the customs of the shepherds and the habits of the sheep, the judge ordered the sheep to be brought into Court, and sent one of the two men into another room, while he told the other to call the sheep and see if it would come to him. But the poor animal, not knowing the "voice of a stranger," would not go to him. In the meantime the other man, who was in an adjoining room, growing impatient, and probably suspecting what was going on, gave a kind of "chuck" upon which the sheep bounded away toward him at once. This "chuck" was the way he had been used to call the sheep, and it decided at once that he was the real owner. Thus we have a beautiful illustration of John x, 4, 5. "And the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. And a stranger they will not follow, but flee from him for they know not the voice of strangers." Jesus said, "I am the good Shepherd, and know my sheep, and am known of them."

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER, after a thorough trial, by innumerable living witnesses, has proved itself THE MEDICINE OF THE AGE. Although there have been many medicinal preparations brought before the public since the first introduction of Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, and large amounts expended in their introduction, the Pain Killer has continued to steadily advance in the estimation of the world as the best Family Medicine ever introduced. It is an internal and external remedy. One positive proof of its efficacy is, that the sales have constantly increased, and wholly upon its own merits. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cold, Cough, Bowel Complaints, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy in case of Burns, Bruises, Sores, Sprains, Cuts, Sting of Insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it such a host of testimony, as an almost infallible remedy, that it will be handed down to posterity as one of the greatest medical discoveries of the nineteenth century.
